

THREAT ASSESSMENT

Team Training

NEED FOR THREAT ASSESSMENT TRAINING

Although schools have a relatively low rate of violent crime in comparison to other settings, concerns about school shootings have stimulated increased school security and use of zero tolerance discipline. School threat assessment is a more proactive and flexible violence prevention practice that is used when an individual threatens to commit a violent act or engages in threatening behavior.

SESSIONS WILL BE CONDUCTED BY MCIU STAFF WHO HAVE BEEN TRAINED IN V-STAG

The Virginia Student Threat Assessment Guidelines (V-STAG) is an evidence-based model for schools to use in conducting threat assessments in K-12 schools. This model was developed by Dr. Dewey Cornell and colleagues at the University of Virginia in 2001 and has been extensively examined through field tests and controlled studies that demonstrate its utility and effectiveness. The Virginia Student Assessment Guidelines has been widely adopted by schools in Virginia and nationwide. V-STAG was recognized as an evidence-based program by the National Registry of Evidence-based Programs and Practices in 2013.
